

Why Regina?

Small-town intimacy meets big-city excitement in Regina, the home of beloved sports teams, fervent fans who don colourful costumes in tribute, and Scotty, the world's largest Tyrannosaurus rex at the Royal Saskatchewan Museum. There's a trailblazing spirit here, where every tree has been hand-planted and independent entrepreneurship embraces Regina's industrious and innovative character. The energy bubbles over into recreational adventures in Wascana Park, one of Canada's largest urban parks and at the city's popular outdoor music festivals—whether in summer sun or winter snow.

RCMP Heritage Centre

Explore more than a century of RCMP history in these galleries, starting with the establishment of the North-West Mounted Police in 1873 and ending with the current Mountie. Through a range of conventional and educational exhibitions, virtual and augmented reality experiences, and live events, visitors to the RCMP Heritage Centre can learn about the RCMP's past and present.

Wascana Park

Wascana Park, a gorgeously designed park encircling a 120-hectare lake in the center of Regina, is well-known throughout the world. The Legislative Building, government office buildings (including one that houses the MacKenzie Art Gallery), the various buildings that comprise the University of Regina, the Royal Saskatchewan Museum, the Conexus Arts Centre, the Saskatchewan Institute of Applied Science and Technology, the Wascana Rehabilitation Centre, the Saskatchewan Science Centre, and the headquarters of Wascana Centre are just a few of the significant structures nestled within the 930-hectare parkland development.

Royal Saskatchewan Museum

The Provincial Museum, as it was then known, was established in 1906 with the goal of "securing and preserving natural history specimens and objects of historical and ethnological interest." The Museum's mission has grown since its inception to include using these specimens and artifacts to inform communities through its research, activities, and exhibits. Our current vision, mission, and mandate are well-defined, giving us a benchmark to work toward when developing exhibitions, presenting events, and doing research.

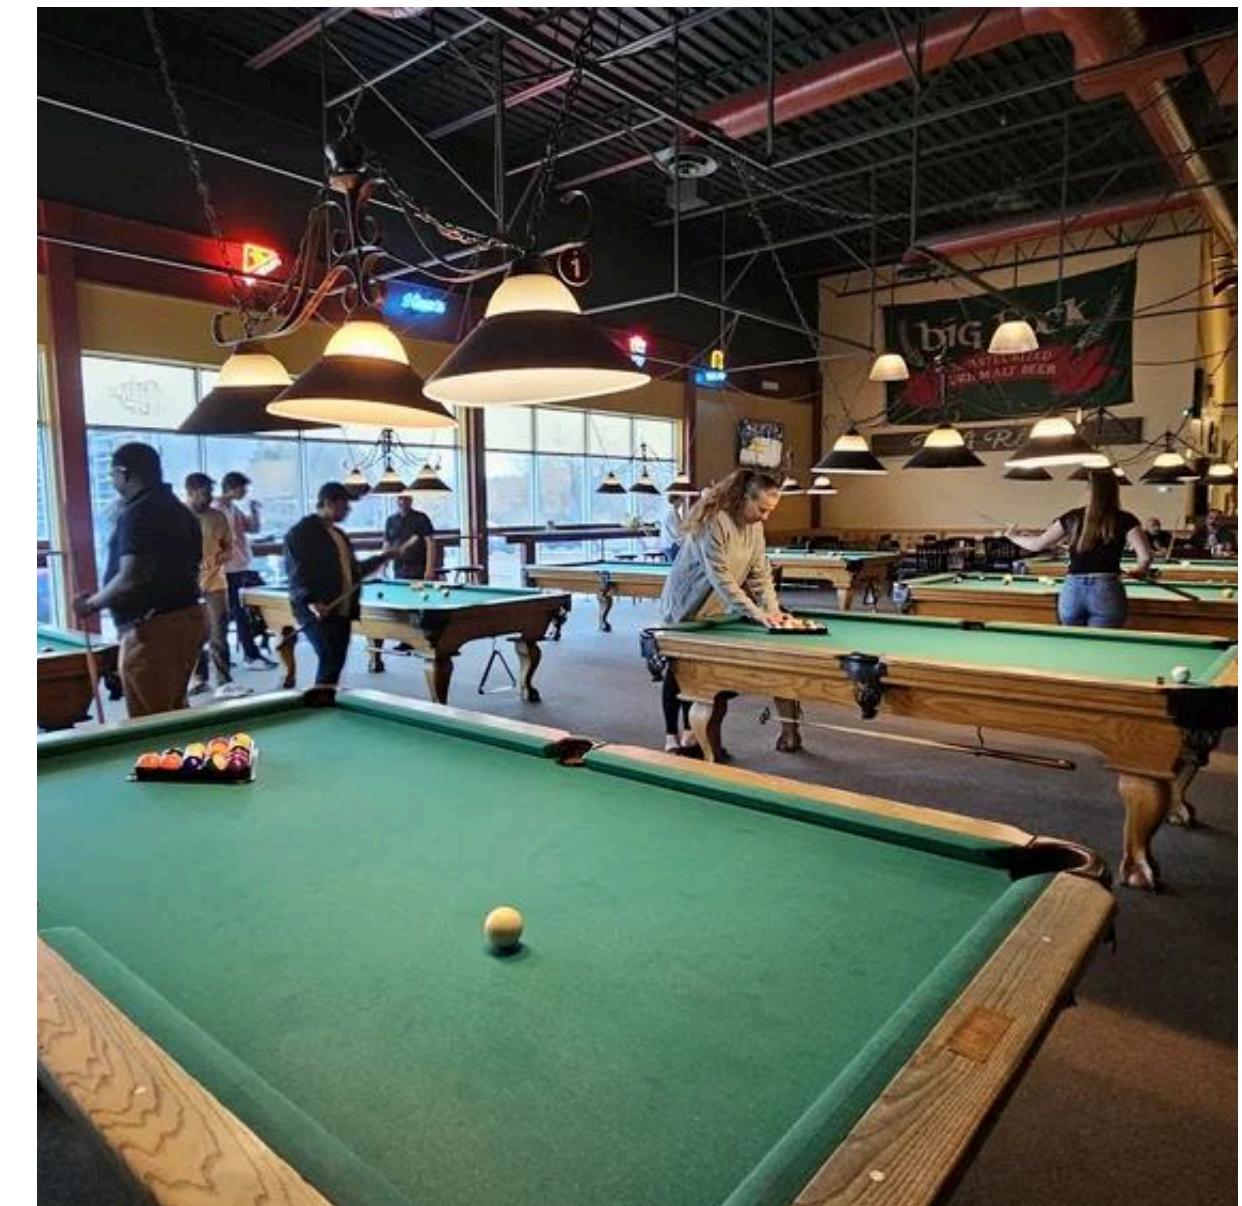

SkyPark Regina

SkyPark is Regina's largest indoor/outdoor amusement park. This facility includes high ropes, ziplines, rock climbing wall, mini golf, laser tag, and many more.

Broken Rack Billiards

Come enjoy some local pub food at the Broken Rack Billiards in Regina! This sports bar is the perfect place to family and friends to hang out and devour their tasty selections of wings.

Saskatchewan Science Centre

In addition to encouraging experiments, the Saskatchewan Science Centre wows you with workshops, surprises you with stage presentations, and offers more than 180 interactive, hands-on displays, all of which provide families with opportunity to play and learn together. The Kramer IMAX Theatre, Saskatchewan's only huge screen, offers 3D science, travel, and nature-themed films that enhance this educational experience.
